Aleisha,

Thank you for voicing your support for President Trump's recent executive order. I am opposed to executive orders of any kind. In recent years, the Presidents of the United States have taken upon themselves a power that, in my opinion, is far beyond their constitutional jurisdiction (another recent example being the designation of the Bears Ears National Monument). No single man should have so much power; the executive branch of government was never meant to have such unilateral control over the American people and consequent issues such as immigration. Limiting the Federal Government is the best long-term solution for solving the issue of immigration and ensuring that our nation's policies reflect the true voice of the people.

Thank you for writing to me, and for allowing me to share my opinion.
Senator Wayne Niederhauser
